Motion Picture News

What the Picture Theaters Have to Tell You.

"BATTLE CRY OF PEACE" SHOWING TODAY-TOMORROW

The wonderful picture, "The Battle Cry of Peace," had its initial showing at the Pastime theater yesterday and pleased a large crowd from 11 a. m. until midnight. To say that this picture is immense is putting it mildly, for words cannot express the tremendous appeal contained in this two hours' exhibition. Showing today and tomorrow.

Marguerite Snow Closes at Alta

Marguerite Snow, the charming and gifted screen star, will be seen here at the Alta theater for the last time tonight in "A Corner in Cotton," a five part Metro wonderplay, produced in Quality Pictures Corporation. Miss Snow is supported by an all-star cast including Franz Bacon, Lester Cuneo, Helen Dunbar, J. W. Goldsworthy and other prominent players.

"The City," New York's Greatest Sensation at Alta Tomorrow

New York, cynical, brash and desiring to "be shown" before manifesting the slightest degree of enthusiasm, was literally driven topsy-turvy by Clyde Fitch's last play "The City," the terrific arraignment of society and financial life made into a five-part film drama, replete with thrills and vivid dramatic action by the World Film Corporation. "The City," which is at the Alta theater tomorrow, amazed, thrilled and dumfounded with its daring and brutal truth of realism even cynical New York.

W. S. Hart, Dead Shot AND EXPERT HORSEMAN

As a bad man, William S. Hart does some excellent shooting in the Ince-Triangle play, "Hell's Hinges." Hart has the role of Blaze Tracy, who is quick on the draw and a dead shot. To show his prowess, Hart keeps a tin can in the air for several seconds by a fusillade from his revolver. Another great feat he pulls when he severs the wires by which the lamps are suspended in a saloon.

And Hart shows himself a wonderful horseman, too. For instance, he rolls down an embankment on horseback and then jumps about ten feet into the saddle. Hart had to practice this stunt three times before he was able to have it properly registered by the camera. Though he was sore from landing such a distance in the saddle, Hart showed his gameness in continuing till the picture was complete.

"Hell's Hinges"

There are some great moments packed with action and suspense in the Ince-Triangle drama, "Hell's Hinges." Among other scenes two stand out particularly. One is the fight between the tough and the good elements of the town, which results in the temporary victory of the evil forces.
